

Russ Koesterich
Head of Active Strategies
Barclays Global Investors

Russ Koesterich is Global Head of Investment Strategy for BGI Active Equities. Russ joined BGI in 2005 as a Senior Portfolio Manager in the US Market Neutral Group.

Prior to joining BGI, Russ managed several research groups focused on quantitative and top down strategy. Russ began his career at Instinet in New York, where he occupied several positions in research, including Director of Investment Strategy for both US and European research. In addition, Russ served as Chief North American Strategist for State Street Bank in Boston.

Russ holds a JD from Boston College Law School, an MBA from Columbia Business School, and is a holder of the CFA designation.

He is also a frequent contributor to the Wall Street Journal, New York Times, Associated Press, as well as CNBC and Bloomberg Television. In 2008, Russ published “The ETF Strategist” (Portfolio Books) focusing on using exchange traded funds to manage risk and return within a portfolio.